The well filled with the intelligent and wealthy citizens of the County. Dr. Janney, a warm opponent of the proceeding of the Court, was called to the chair, and on motion, appointed a committee of ten to report resolutions for the action of the meeting. The committee reported a long series of resolutions condemning the action of the Court in strong terms. These resolutions were long and ably discuss ed, but met with such decided opposition, that the only result was a resolution that " a committee of ten be appointed by the chair to take counsel on the subject of the legality of the action of the Court, and to procure subscriptions to pay the fee for such counsel, and for any legal proceedings that he might ad-

The friends of the subscription and of the action of the Court were numerously and ablyrepresented in the meeting, and fully acquiesced in this resolution, believing that it could only result in further approval of the proceeding which the meeting was designed to impugn.

On the whole, the friends of the road are much pleased with the spirit manifested at this meeting and in the county generally, as well as with the resolution adopted. M. well as with the resolution adopted.
